Police Officers & Their Families

As pastor of a parish with a large constituency of police officers, I feel a strong responsibility to focus on the needs of our officers and their families. Deacon Ed Dolan, a retired policeman, and I have mutually agreed that the needs and concerns of men and women committed to and touched by service as police officers should be addressed. Gerry Bolger, a retired policeman, and Rory Gilbert, both of whom are co-directors of St. Michael's House, are assisting us.

Our next session will be held Wednesday, June 9th at 7:30 pm
 in the Parish Center.

Father Phil's Ramblings

Today, we celebrate Trinity Sunday which comes each year on the Sunday after Pentecost. Trinity Sunday is when we acknowledge that God is understood as having a three-fold nature. What does that mean? How can we "understand" three in one? Yes, we sign ourselves before and after prayers with the sign of the Trinity, but how can our simple minds comprehend such a mystery? Actually, we can't!

I once read of a priest who once stood up and announced to his congregation that the Trinity was such a mystery, about which he understood nothing, that there would be no homily that day!

Certainly we cannot explain the mystery of God. It would be a mistake to try to bring God out of the realm of mystery. So rather than explain, I would like to share a conversation that I recently heard between Bob Sirott, a TV commentator and Studs Terkel, an extremely interesting 91 year old icon from Chicago.

During the interview, Studs, whose mind is as sharp as a tack, began talking about his wife of some 61 years who died four years ago. Studs began his response with this statement: "I am agnostic", he said, "and I believe in life." Tears began to well up in his eyes as he related how much he and his wife loved each other; and how they supported and helped each other. He said that his wife was his best friend.

My immediate reaction was, how could a man who loved life and loved his wife not believe in God?

Probably, Studs' greatest surprise when he dies will be to see his wife and see the face of God.

For anyone who truly loves his life (God-given) and has experienced love and true friendship is experiencing a reflection of God.

Studs Terkel may claim to be an agnostic (not an atheist) but he has come very close to seeing the face of God.

As Christians we believe that God is three-in-one-Trinity! But as St. John once said, God is love and He abides in he or she who abides in love.

The mystery is not only Trinity, but the mystery is Love.

We may not be able to understand Trinity, but hopefully, we learn the true mystery of love.

“ We Are Three, You Are Three”

This story, which I may have referred to in some previous context, is from my “Guru” (Mentor), Father Tony de Mello, S.J., a widely acclaimed spiritual director and author. It’s from his book, The Song of the Bird. Tony writes:

When his ship stopped at a remote island for a day, the bishop determined to use the time as profitably as possible. He strolled along the seashore and came across three fishermen attending to their nets. In pidgin English they announced to him that centuries before they had been Christianized by missionaries. “We Christians!” they said, proudly pointing to one another.

The bishop was impressed. Did they know the Lord’s Prayer? They had never heard of it. The bishop was shocked.

“What do you say, then, when you pray?”

“We lift eyes in heaven. We pray, ‘We are three, you are three, have mercy on us’”. The bishop was appalled at the primitive, the downright heretical, nature of the prayer. So he spent the whole day teaching them the Lord’s Prayer. The fishermen were poor learners, but they gave it all they had and before the bishop sailed away the next day, he had the satisfaction of hearing them go through the formula faultlessly.

Months later, his ship happened to pass by those islands again and the bishop, as he paced the deck reciting evening prayer, recalled with pleasure the three men on that distant island who were now able to pray, thanks to his patient efforts.

Suddenly he saw a spot of light in the east that kept approaching the ship and, as he gazed in wonder, he saw three figures walking on the water. The captain stopped the ship and everyone leaned over the rails to see this sight.

They were the bishop’s fishermen, of course. “Bishop,” they exclaimed, “we hear your boat go past and come hurry-hurry meet you.”

“What is it you want?” asked the awe-stricken bishop.

“Bishop,” they said, “we so, so sorry. We forget lovely prayer. We say: ‘Our Father, in heaven holy be your name, your kingdom com...’ then we forget. Tell us prayer again.

It was a chastened bishop who replied, “Go back to your homes, my friends, and each time you pray, say: ‘We are three, you are three, have mercy on us.’”

Boy Scout Troop 965 Needs Your Help!...

Our troop needs to find a new home for our equipment trailer. Our current home behind the rectory will disappear due to the new rectory. If you have a safe, secure and accessible parking spot near the parish we could use, we would sure like to hear from you.

We are also losing our equipment storage space which is currently in the rectory garage. The new building will not accommodate storing our tents, stoves, coolers and canoes. We will be building a new storage area in the school courtyard.

Please call Pete Stolarski at 773.774.6528, if you are able to help solve our new problems.

St. Juliana Parish Music Ministry

The St. Juliana Music Ministry includes a wonderful group of very talented children who make up our Children's Choir. We have had well over 30 third through eighth graders in choir this year. The children rehearse each Wednesday after school and sing at the 9:00 am Mass on the first and third Sundays of the month. They are from our parish grade school as well as from our parish CCD program. It has been a joy to work with each member as we pray and sing together each week.

Two of our choir members, Margaret Keating and Maggie Wittenberg have been in choir for six years and are both graduating from St. Juliana grade school this June. We thank each and every choir member and especially our recent graduates for their dedicated service to St. Juliana Parish, for their wonderful singing, for their smiling faces, for their boundless energy and for their prayerful faith. May God bless each one with the gift of joy as they go off to enjoy summer vacation!
