Twenty-fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time
September 19, 2004

God wills everyone to be saved and to come to knowledge of the truth.

-- Mark 9:37

Today, the 25th Sunday of the Church Year, marks the annual observance of "Catechetical Sunday". This special day is celebrated across the United States. It is a day to recognize members of our parish community who have accepted the Lord's Call in the catechetical ministry of the church.

This year's theme for Catechetical Sunday is "Stewards of God's Gifts". God calls all of us to protect and use the treasures we've been given in ways that make them valuable and beneficial to all. We are called to share the faith to the best of our abilities. We are also called to recognize the gifts of those we minister to.

We are called to focus on those gifts that God has entrusted to us.

On this special day, we extend our gratitude to the following groups of people for their service to our parish community:

PREB
(Parish Religious Education Board)

School Staff

CCD Staff

Sunday School Catechists & Helpers

SPRED Staff
(Special Religious Ed for the Disabled)

Parish Liturgy Team

Family Liturgy Committee

CRHP Continuation Team
(Christ Renews His Parish)

Marriage Preparation Lead Couples

Bereavement Ministry

Father Phil's Ramblings

(A continuation...)

My priestly journey continued when I applied for the pastorate at Queen of Angels. After 6 years at Immaculate Conception I felt I needed another challenge. I was saddened at the closing of our small school, and when the opportunity to become pastor at Queen of Angels, which had a very large, ethnically-diverse school, was offered to me, I eagerly accepted. I left IC with this wonderful message from the parishioners: "No love or no friendship can ever cross our path without affecting us forever." I truly believe those words and they mean everything to me. I have been truly blessed in each and every assignment I have served, and love and friendship are most dear to me.

At Queen of Angels, the school was large and very diverse, both racially and ethnically. The parish was made up of three large communities: Irish-German, Hispanic, and Korean. To balance and serve each of these constituencies was very demanding. Queen of Angels was the most challenging of my assignments, and the one I probably fulfilled the least successfully. I knew no Korean, and little -- very little -- Spanish, hence I probably served the English-speaking community with the most success.

Queen of Angels held two weekly Bingo sessions, and one gigantic annual carnival which ran for ten days. In running a parish carnival one must be a bit like a circus clown, and juggle 3 or 4 balls for 10 straight days. Fun, yes, but exhausting, too. The present pastor, Father Bill O'Brien, has since cancelled the carnival. A wise man, but a man who will miss out on being a clown. Another fund-raising venture I initiated was the sale of Christmas trees. Now that was fun, and much less demanding. Parishioners volunteered to run the lot from the day after Thanksgiving until December 23rd. Christmas tree sales is a very profitable venture.

I spent 10 years at Queen of Angels and have many wonderful memories of faith-filled people who loved the Church and loved their God. Being a pilgrim, however, I knew it was time to move on. My final move -- next week.

Ramblings -- Part II

- This weekend is being called Parish Showcase Sunday. The parish council has been planning a kick-off weekend in which all the parish organizations and ministries will be 'showcased,' if you will. Quite often parishioners do not realize the activities and ministries provided within our parish. This weekend, I invite you to stop over to the activity center and take part in our Parish Showcase.

- Next Saturday, September 25th, we will begin to offer the Sacrament of Reconciliation after the 8:30 am Mass, as well as Saturday afternoon from 4:30 pm, preceding the 5:00 pm Mass. Each Saturday, the celebrant of the 8:30 am Mass will be available for individual confessions in the Reconciliation Room.

- In your bi-monthly parish offertory envelope packet I have removed the red Project 2000 envelope. In its place is a green envelope marked St. Juliana School Support Fund. This is an opportunity for parishioners to help reduce the overall cost for tuition for our school families. The money that is given will be used to directly subsidize next year's tuition costs.

- A special word of thanks to all the volunteers who helped make Steak Fry a success. We couldn't have done it without each and every one of you. Thank you! Also, an added thanks to Craig Fieberger, who generously donated the Hawaii trip.

“The Person who is Trustworthy in Very Small Matters Is Also Trustworthy in Great Ones!”

And the Good News goes on with the obverse: “And the person who is dishonest in very small matters is also dishonest in great ones.”

What are these “small matters” and “great matters”? Are they the same as: blue-collar and white-collar matters, or indigent matters and well-off matters, or public school matters and Catholic school matters, or those-people-who-live-far-away-from-us matters and those-people-who-live-close-to-us-matters, or black matters and white matters, or fun matters and serious matters - Oh my!-I could go on all day! - Just what are “great” and “small” matters?

Everyone and everything starts out being a “small matter,” don’t they? That leads us to the important question: what are the “great matters” in my life at the moment? If I could answer that with honesty and truthfulness, I’d be way ahead of the game, believe me. The problem is that others keep telling me what should be important to me. And sometimes the strident voices around me drown out my own inner voice or distort it.

Maybe the world around is telling me the difference between small and great matters and my inner voice sounds like Jiminy Cricket chirping in a field of tall grass. I was out in Morton’s Arboretum the other day and I barely-just-barely heard a sound which upon closer observation turned out to be a frog, a lilla fwog. The message was clear: I had to stop, attune my ears, not rustle the tall grass in which I was standing, and abstract the car-noises from the nearby highways and turn them off.

It was a lot like prayer.

It is possible that small matters are really great ones and what seem to be great matters are really small ones. The secret is in the discernment. What should I focus on? What should I invest my energies in? What should I spend time on as individual and with my family? Who are the important people in my life, the ones I spend the most time with, or the ones I spend my quality-time with? Is my quality-time a “small amount” or a “great amount”?

Did you ever reflect on the motley band of “small” people whom Jesus chose to be “His inner circle, His groupies”? What a disproportionate amount of time He spent with them in comparison with the “great ones” of the day! Or so it seems to me.

Jesus prayed quite a bit because He was always faced with discernments of one sort or another. There was no one around to tell Him how God is when God becomes human. Not even the Father knew the lived experience of being human except through Jesus. The “small things” and the “great things” could only be learned by the living of them. What effect did they have on the heart? Peace, consolation, joy, the fruits of the Holy Spirit: these are the touchstones of what is great and what is small in life. God is found in the great and small events and people of life, but God must be recognized, searched for, listened to.

God is like a frog in the grass.

Let Us

Upon Further Review...

Last November, our parish implemented several changes in the mass required by the General Instruction of the Roman Missal (GIRM). For instance, the instruction called for more silence at various moments during the Eucharist, encouraged the procession with the Book of the Gospels and asked that we bow before receiving Holy Communion. There was, however, one requirement that we missed regarding an important gesture. The instruction calls for the people to stand at the point the priest says, “Pray brothers and sisters that our sacrifice...” Thus the people are already standing before they respond: “May the Lord accept this sacrifice...”

What is the significance of the gesture of standing at that time? In Catholic liturgy the proper position for praying to God is the standing position. Even in certain rituals when a priest or bishop has been kneeling (e.g. Good Friday, ordination rites) he always stands when he addresses a prayer to God. When the assembly offers their response: “May the Lord accept this sacrifice...”, their words are also a prayer, said in response to the priests’ invitation “pray, brothers and sisters”. Thus the people are asked to stand at this point so that we are consistent in standing when we are praying in the liturgy.

The parish priests and staff ask that we begin doing this gesture together beginning the weekend of September 25th/26th. We thank you for your prayerfulness and the opportunity to share the Eucharist together in Christ.

Have a good week,
Father Mike McGovern

ATTENTION MOMS... As women share in the joy and miracle of giving life, a young mom's time is also surrounded with activities, children, careers, family, and friends. Life is full! In trying to meet everyone's needs, a mom's needs are sometimes put on the back burner.

St. Juliana Parish does host a special time for moms of school age or preschool age children. This would be a time for moms and their peers to come together and in an informal way to share the joy's, difficulties and humor of parenting.

Our first meeting of the 2004/2005 season will be held on Wednesday morning, October 6th from 9:30 am - 11:00 am.

If you are interested, please join us. Any questions? Call Joyce Browne 773.631.4127.

Attention...We Need

Ministers of Care - St. Juliana Parish is in need of help in our Minister of Care Program at Forest Villa Nursing Home, Lutheran General Hospital and our Home Care Ministry.

Forest Villa Nursing Home involves bringing Communion to the residents once a month on Sunday mornings at 9:00 am.

Lutheran General Hospital involves donating a few hours once a month on Friday mornings bringing Communion to Catholic patients.

Home Care Ministry involves bringing Communion to homebound members of St. Juliana Parish at convenient scheduled times for both the minister and our homebound parishioner.

For those who are interested but think you are not qualified, please know that training will be provided. The only qualification required is the desire to minister to those who want to receive the Eucharist but are unable to attend Mass.

Please consider this very worthwhile ministry and please keep our Ministers of Care and the program in your prayers.

A Mass For Healing Memories (Mass of the Angels)

On Thursday evening, October 7th, at 7:00 pm, St. Juliana Parish will host a special Mass. This Mass for Healing Memories will be celebrated for all God's children who have died. This special Mass is for parents, brothers, sisters and family members who have suffered the loss of a child, no matter what age, through miscarriage, SIDS, abortion, illness or sudden deaths through addiction or suicide.

This Mass will also help us to remember to give thanks and to be healed if anger or guilt still remains after the death of one's child. Nothing can be more agonizing than the loss of a child. If you have had this experience or know of someone who has, please extend this invitation to them. If you would like to bring a memento of your child, (favorite photo, toy, blanket, etc) please do so.

Please Note: In years past, this Mass was held on Saturday mornings. This year, we are moving the day and time due to requests from those who found it difficult to attend a Saturday morning Mass.

Please contact Joyce Browne, if you have further questions. Joyce can be reached at the Parish Business Office 773.631.4127

Dr. John Mayer Gives St. Juliana Parents the “Recipe for Raising a Successful Child”

Parents of the school children of St. Juliana School gathered on the evening of September 9, 2004 for the annual Open House celebration. Before visiting the classrooms, the parents met in St. Juliana Church to hear Dr. John Mayer speak about “The Recipe for Raising a Successful Child”.

Dr. Mayer, a graduate of Northwestern University Medical School, is a practicing clinical psychologist and is nationally known as an expert on the problems of youths and families. He is founder and director of the Institute for Adolescent Development and the Center for Youth Research. On the evening of September 9th, Dr. Mayer shared his 12 points for raising a successful child. After the presentation Dr. Mayer was available in the Parish Activity Center for individual questions and conversation.

Parents were then invited to explore the school and visit their children’s classrooms. Each homeroom teacher gave a brief explanation of the curriculum, classroom expectations, and answered any questions posed by the visitors. The Parish Activity Center was the gathering area where parents could enjoy coffee and refreshments and talk with old friends and meet new ones!
