PASTORAL COUNCIL MISSION STATEMENT

The St. Juliana Parish Pastoral Council is an enthusiastic, compassionate, faith-filled community participating in the ministry of the Church.

We are witnesses of the Good News, and through example and prayer we live the Gospel message.

Through active listening we strive to determine and understand the diverse needs of our parish and community. We minister to these needs by inviting and empowering others to become involved in meeting the spiritual, temporal and social needs of all.

We partner with the Pastor and Staff to support existing parish life, to create vision, and to plan for the future.

Father Phil's Ramblings

Plenty Good Room

"In my Father's house there are many dwelling places," said Jesus. There is an old spiritual that interprets this text in the unforgettable way characteristic of spirituals. It is called "Plenty Good Room": "Plenty good room! Plenty good room! / Plenty good room in my Father's kingdom. /Plenty good room!/Plenty good room! / So choose your seat and sit down."

Jesus was preparing to leave this world. In today's Gospel he begins to tell his disciples goodbye. They are like little children who have just learned their parents are going out for the evening. "Where are you going?" "When are you coming back?" Who is going to stay with us?" Notice, the disciples do not ask what is going to happen to Jesus. They ask what is going to happen to them. We didn't invent self-centered religion! Jesus reassures the disciples that in the Father's house there are many rooms. Room for them. Plenty of good room.

What is Jesus saying about heaven in this passage? We all wonder about heaven, don't we? Yet we admit to not understanding much about heaven. Consider, however, that it wouldn't be heaven if we could understand it. Imagine being given the job of communicating to the human embryo in the mother's womb what life in this world is going to be like? Similarly, we don't have the capacity to understand God's eternal realm. On the other hand, Jesus does tell us a couple of very important things about heaven.

First Jesus says heaven is generous. There are many dwellings in the Father's house. "Plenty good room." That's good news, isn't it? Maybe there's room enough for us! Or is it bad news? What if there is also room for your enemies, the very people you know don't deserve to be there?

We try our best to keep God domesticated. We think of God as "our God." The God of the Bible, on the other hand, is the God of the universe. The testimony of the scriptures is that "in Christ God was reconciling the world into himself." It does not say God was reconciling us and our kind to himself! In the Father's house are many rooms. Earlier in John's Gospel, Jesus said, "I am the good shepherd; I know my own and my own know me... And I have other sheep, that are not of this fold; I must bring them also, and they will heed my voice. So there shall be one flock, one shepherd." Probably "other sheep" is a reference to the gentile world. This would have been an unthinkable idea to the Jewish leaders.

The point is: in God's heart there is room for more people than there is in our hearts. If this is true of heaven, then it needs to affect how we relate to all people on earth. Our own hearts must grow, not just in depth, but in breadth.

They Were Confirmed in Their Faith

All of the sacraments are abiding presences of God in our lives. They are not “one-shot” deals, celebrated and experienced with great pomp on a particular day. The sacraments are “beginnings.” Something begins to happen in our lives and then grows and develops until the day we die. Those of us who are, ahem, in our 60’s and then some, know that life is a lot like a roller coaster. Just when you reach the top, you begin to go down. A little like being a 7th or 8th grader.

But, strange to say, the sacraments adjust themselves to all the periods of our lives. Or more correctly, God the Spirit adapts Him/Herself to us as we live through the various stages of our human lives.

As I may have pointed out in some previous reflection, it is more correct to use the continuous-present tense in referring to God’s action in us. So it’s not: “I have been baptized,” or “I have been confirmed,” but: “I am being baptized” and “I am being confirmed.”

Confirmation is not some sort of “seal of approval” on our faith or knowledge of the catechism. Perhaps when we find ourselves most confused, most unsure of ourselves, most in need of direction, most doubtful about what our Faith is all about, that is precisely the time when we should seek “confirmation,” support, the beginning of a fresh outpouring of the spirit of God.

Sometimes - not always, but sometimes - it’s a little like: “I don’t want to receive that sacrament because my faith in the sacrament is not strong enough yet. But it might be as true to say: “My faith in that sacrament is not strong enough because I need that sacrament dwelling within me for that faith to be strong enough!” What do they call that? A “Catch 22” situation!?”

We are constantly “confirming” our children in their value as persons and our love for them. We also need that sort of confirmation in order to live healthy, productive human lives. When God wants to do the same for us, it is as if we shy away, professing insufficient knowledge and the necessity of taking time to “look into the matter.”

The little children who come to communion in the arms of their parents and reach out their hands to receive the Lord “just like Mommy or Daddy”, are beautiful examples of how the wonder and power of the sacramental system should be conveyed to our children. Through us adults, obviously, no? If the sacraments make Mom and Dad faith-filled, happy Christians, then the attraction for our youngsters will be evident. But if we have to tell our youngsters: “This is what this sacrament should mean to you; this is what this sacrament should do for you in your faith life — but the “talk is not walked...”

The sacraments are not “club membership initiation” rites, accomplished in one ceremony, no matter how long! They give witness to a Christian life begun and being lived continuously 24/7.

Misericordia - Heart of Mercy “Candy Days”

April 29th & April 30th

Volunteers are needed in Edison Park for Misericordia’s annual “Candy Days”.

Jack, Cindy (our parish nurse) Ryan, Colin, Connor & Meaghan Brennan, are always grateful for any time you are able to give to help Misericordia. Their daughter Meaghan is a resident of this very special place.

Ask a friend to volunteer with you or make it a family project (for those 18 and over). This is a worthwhile cause and you will have fun, too!

Call parishioners Jack and Cindy Brennan at 773.631.2771 to volunteer for this wonderful day of service.

Save the dates!!!

St. Juliana Parish Blood Drive

This Sunday, April 24th

From 8:00 am until 1:00 pm

In the

Ahearn Activity Center

Blood is needed 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. Imagine being told that, at long last, a donated organ suddenly has become available and the lifesaving transplant surgery you need is all set—but there's not enough blood available to start the procedure.

If you think this situation sounds far-fetched, you should know that it happened here in Chicago, recently. For several hours, the blood bank director at the University of Illinois Medical center at Chicago and his staff were scrambling to fill patient and surgeon needs. They needed to provide blood for two lifesaving transplant surgeries (one liver and one heart) in the face of an inadequate supply of type O blood. LifeSource rushed 15 recently collected units of blood to the hospital and surgeries were successfully completed.

More blood donors of all types are urgently needed. Your donation can save the lives of up to 3 area patients.

Stop in the Ahearn Parish Activity Center this Sunday and donate blood - it won't take very long. Your donation could save a life.

CRHP NEWS

The CRHP Continuation Committee has planned some time for renewing friendships, renewing spirits and renewing our faith commitments. Please mark your calendars for the following events:

Thursday, May 12: Join all the CRHP sisters for an evening of Wine and Rosary. We will meet in the Chapel at 7:00 pm to say the rosary together. We will then join together in the School Hall for wine, cheese, appetizers and catching up.

Sunday, May 22: Please help us in hosting Father Phil's retirement reception. It will follow a special 10:30 am Mass in the Ahearn Activity Center. We need help with set up, hosting and clean-up as well as baking. Please call Pat Kusar at 773.775.5774 or email at parkucz@aol.com.

Sunday, June 26: Join the rest of the parish at our annual parish picnic

Sunday, September 25: Day of Renewal from 8:30 am to 3:30 pm for all women who have completed the CRHP Weekend. We had such a positive response to last years Day of Renewal - it will follow a similar format.

Sunday, May 8th
After all the Masses

“The mother is appointed guardian of life...it is here that the history of every life begins.” John Paul II

Show how much you appreciate your Mom by giving her a beautiful bouquet of roses, carnations or mixed flowers. We will sell Mother’s Day flowers after all the Masses on Saturday, May 7th & Sunday, May 8th. Proceeds from the sale will help support the life– saving work of The Women’s Centers of Greater Chicagoland. The money raised by this sale will be used to help teens and women facing crisis pregnancies.

Each year, The Women’s Centers of Greater Chicagoland provide compassionate counseling, social services referrals and material goods assistance to over 6,000 women who are facing crisis pregnancies. Since its founding in 1987, The Women’s Centers have helped saved more than 28,000 babies from the threat of abortion. Please support this worthy cause.

What My Catholic Education Means To Me By: Katie Magruder

My Catholic education has taught me so much and it means a lot to me. St. Juliana has taught me how to be the person I am today. I have learned so much here and I'll never forget any of it. St. Juliana has taught me how to be a good person towards others and to myself. It has also taught me the meaning of "Catholic" education. It showed me what being a Christian means and how to act that way towards others. My education has taught me about all the acts of God and Jesus and how we are supposed to act like them and be kind to everyone no matter what. My Catholic education has also showed me who I am. It has shown me that I am a Catholic Christian and that I should act like that.

There are many ways our school has helped me become a Catholic and ways to show I am a Catholic outside of school. We have many opportunities to volunteer and help other people, especially in 7th and 8th grade. We can volunteer at Mass by serving and we can usher at 12 o'clock Mass. In 7th grade before Confirmation we had service projects and we all did something to help someone. You could have gone to the nursing home and talk and hang out with the people there to make them feel happy and not so lonely. There is also the McKenna family who have triplets who are handicapped and you could help them out. I did that service project and I'm glad our school offered it to me so I could see how other families live unlike mine. There were many more things to volunteer for and I know everyone wanted to help and get involved with something to help someone else.

This school has not just taught me how to be a Catholic, but it also has helped me with academics. The teachers try very hard to help you with what you need. Teachers offer help all the time. I know this because all my teachers have offered help to anyone the whole eight years I have been here. They really want you to do well and they really care about you. Every teacher really helps you grasp the meaning of what you are learning. I have learned so much here and it is great! Every class is helpful to me and has prepared me for high school. I am very thankful we have teachers that care.

St. Juliana has also introduced me to many new people. I have many great friends that I will never forget. I have also met great people who have worked at this school and helped me with something. The priests are also wonderful. It is great they want to preach God's news and give their life up for that. They have taught me so many things at Mass and at school. In 7th and 8th grade Fr. Mike came to class about once a month and he would tell us something new about the Church or the people of Jesus. I am so happy I have met all these great people that have helped me with my life and with school.

Last but not least, I would like to thank everyone involved with our school. I want to thank my parents for sending me to this great school and letting me receive my great education. I also want to thank the parishioners for supporting our school financially, the teachers for teaching us everything we need to know for high school, the priests for preaching our Catholic education, all the staff who is involved with our school, and all of my friends for always being there for me and helping me with anything! Thanks, everyone!

2nd Grade Students Get Ready for Their First Eucharist

April 30, 2005 will be a very special day for the second grade students at St. Juliana School. On that day they will be receiving the Sacrament of Eucharist for the first time. Since January they have been using a special book in their religion class called, "The First Eucharist". Each week the second graders have studied scripture stories, learned about the Mass, the Eucharistic Celebration, and have done special projects with their families, in preparation for their First Communion.

For one project the child along with another family member made a cloud and a rainbow and wrote on the cloud "Our Gifts to God". On the rainbow family members wrote ways they will help each other.

The "First Communion Box" was another family project. After decorating an old shoebox and changing it into "My First Communion Memories" box they filled it with photographs, prayer cards, and other things that will always remind them of the day they first received Jesus.

As a final reminder of all the things that they had been learning, the children and their families made a "Sunday with Jesus" mobile. They drew and cut out symbols to help them remember Jesus' gift of Himself. All the students who are making their First Communion also create a personalized banner to commemorate this special day.
