We know Jesus will be there. Will you?

"I Will Give You The Keys To The Kingdom Of Heaven"

I remember how humbled I was when my musician buddy, Eddie Ptaszek, told me where the keys to his home were kept, in case, I had to get my drums packed for a gig and he would not be home to open the doors for me. "Here, I'll show you where I keep the keys outside my basement."

No greater love hath a person than to give the keys of their home to you! Giving the keys to one's home is a wonderful act of intimacy and trust. To leave one's home vulnerable and available to a non-family member is, in effect, to treat that person as family.

It implies a confidence that the person to whom the keys are being given is trustworthy and conscientious. No homeowner does that casually, without a sense of the reliability of the person who's being given the privilege of having "the keys to the kingdom."

One does not lightly accept the responsibility of knowing where the keys are kept or the intricacies of how they are used to gain access to the home. It's not: "Oh yeah! Lemme know where you keep your house keys. I'll lock up after I leave!" Though there may not be a lot of "hemming and hawing," there is an instinctive sense of trusting and being trusted. To give someone access to one's home, the keys to the house, implies friendship of a special kind.

Imagine Jesus saying to you: "I'll give you the keys to the kingdom of heaven, my home, the place where I dwell and am most at rest!" They're not keys to some kind of office complex or business enterprise. One might more easily give keys to an office or storage area to a person one did not know too well. But to one's own home!?

My friend Eddie often tells me to relax, take something to eat, a cold drink, etc. "Mi case su casa!" Or, as we say in Hindi: "Apna ghar sumjheaa!" ("Take this as your home!") So it's not just the keys to open doors or cupboards in the basement. It's literally the "keys to Eddie Ptaszek's kingdom."

In another place Jesus said: "It is to you to know the secrets of the kingdom." WOW! Why would God give us this privilege? Why would He/She open all that He/She has to us? Why this trust? This straightforward availability of all God's possessions?

When I was a kid, my Mom taught me never to open the door for strangers. But when Uncle Joe or cousin Johnny or other close relatives came and we checked the window near the door, the door was thrown open and it was "mi casa su casa" all the way! Not only does God open the door for us; Jesus hands us the keys and gleefully says: "Apna ghar sumjheaa!" Make yourself at home!"

"NOW DON'T LOSE THE KEY!"

Father Bob Grib, S.J.

Welcome School Year 2008/2009

As we start the 2008/2009 school year at Saint Juliana School, the teachers and staff are looking forward to meeting the students and their families. We are eager to work with each of you as we continue our ministry of Catholic education. The entire staff remains committed to our mission of hearing and following the Gospel message, providing an excellent academic program, and assisting our students in accepting responsibility for themselves and others. I hope you will join me and the staff in praying for one another as we strive to provide "life-long learning in a faith-filled community" at Saint Juliana School.

Prayer for Students

Father of Light and Wisdom, thank you for giving me a mind that can know and a heart that can love.

Help me to keep learning every day of my life - no matter what the subject may be. Let me be convinced that all knowledge leads to you and let me know how to find you and love you in all the things you have made.

Encourage me when the studies are difficult and when I am tempted to give up. Enlighten me when my brain is slow and help me to grasp the truth held out to me.

Grant me the grace to put my knowledge to use in building the kingdom of God on earth so that I may enter the kingdom of God in heaven.

Amen.

News from St. Juliana Boy Scout Troop 965

Troop 965 just returned from a week of summer camping at the Owasippe Scout Reservation in Michigan. 26 Scouts and six leaders spent a busy week of swimming, boating, sailing, learning wilderness survival and participating in paintball and other shooting sports. The Troop earned a total of 81 merit badges in a variety of outdoor skills.

A group of eight older scouts and four leaders are currently doing a backpacking trek at the Philmont Scout Ranch in northern New Mexico. They will spend ten days out on the trails in the high mountain wilderness.

Next our attention turns to the fall camping schedule. We have trips planned for September (hiking), October (mountain biking), and November (Thanksgiving feast). Troop 965 meets at St. Juliana every Monday night at 7:00 in the Gym or School Hall. If you would like more information about joining us please call Scoutmaster John Pelrine at 773.594-9555 or visit our Troop website at www.troop965.us.
